

OZ DUO TUNE UP THEIR FRENCH CONNECTION

WITH international travel off the cards for the time being, Sydney musos Abby Dobson and Lara Goodridge are offering cheap trips to France ... musically, anyway.

Dobson, known for fronting Aussie band Leonardo's Bride, and Goodridge, of FourPlay String Quartet, have released Album Trois as the duo named Baby et Lulu. They were scheduled to tour next month but have pushed dates back to early next year due to Covid.

"That is part of the charm, we are a very cheap trip to Paris," Goodridge said, Dobson adding: "That was the surprise, that a lot of people come and they don't speak a word of French and it doesn't seem to matter at all. Of course, it has reminded me that music transcends even language so it has been really beautiful."

"It is one of those things that I think can just kind of keep going as long as it's giving us joy," said Goodridge.
